These are enterprises of local governments whose main activity is non-financial in nature.

3. General government sector

The general government sector consists of institutional units that are legal entities with political responsibilities established through the political process mainly to produce non-market goods and services for individual and public consumption, and to redistribute income and wealth. These institutional units invest in assets and fund activities by levying taxes and issuing financial instruments. Some units owned by units in the general government sector may also be engaged in the production of goods and services for which economically significant prices are charged. The general government sector consists of the institutional units listed on National Treasury's website:

www.treasury.gov.za

3.1 Central government

Central government consists of national government departments and ministries and institutional units not classified as quasi-corporations owned by central government. Central government institutional units are established in terms of the following legislation:

- The Constitution of the Republic of South Africa Act, 1996 (Act No. 108 of 1996).

3.3.3 Other local government units

This classification includes unincorporated entities not classified as quasi-corporations.

4. Household sector

A household consists of an individual or small group of individuals sharing the same living accommodation, pooling some or all of their income and wealth, while consuming goods and services collectively. The household sector consists of the following institutional units:

4.1 Households

Individuals are members of a household and are not treated as separate institutional units.

4.2 Unincorporated business enterprises of households

Unincorporated business enterprises of households comprise households engaging in market production as one-man businesses or sole proprietorships or partnerships. They are legal entities but are not organised in the form of a company, and the household and business accounts cannot be separated. The one-man business or sole proprietorship can be with or without employees with the latter being own-account workers.

4.3 Non-profit institutions serving households

Non-profit institutions serving households (NPISHs) are legal or social entities that provide goods and services to households free of charge or at economically insignificant prices but that are neither controlled nor mainly financed by government. NPISHs include welfare organisations, aid societies, clubs, non-profit hospitals and schools, churches, trade unions, stokvels, political parties and such companies previously registered under Section 21 of the Companies Act, 1973 and now according to the new Companies Act, 2008 the name should be followed by the abbreviation "NPC".
